BULLYING

Ohio high school youth who experienced bullying, 2021

- The number of women in STEM careers has increased in recent years, although women continue to be underrepresented nationally and in Ohio.
- The key to increasing girls' interest in STEM careers is to provide early and consistent encouragement and education that counteracts negative stereotypes.

63%

of Girl Scouts in middle and high school, who did multiple STEM activities aspire to a career in STEM, compared to 43% among those who did not do STEM activities.

- Girls in Ohio consistently report higher rates of bullying and cyberbullying than boys.
- Bullying has significant effects on physical health such as reduced sleep, increased stress hormones, and impaired brain functioning.
- Nationally, females were more likely than males to perceive that the bullying was related to their gender, sexual orientation, and appearance.

BODY IMAGE

- Nationally, many girls start to worry about their weight from the ages of 6 to 10, and by age 14, 60-70% of girls start to try to lose weight.
- Negative body image may be influenced by pressure from relatives and peers, exposure to unrealistic body expectations from traditional and social media, and engagement in social appearance comparisons.
- A national survey found that 57% of girls said that social media makes them want to change how they look.
